OUR COMMITMENT TO EQUITY, RACIAL JUSTICE, DIVERSITY, INCLUSION AND DECOLONIZATION

The Faculty of Social Work (FSW), University of Calgary (UCalgary), is committed to promoting and actualizing equity, racial justice, diversity, inclusion and decolonization. We affirm that diversity and uniqueness are enriching and valuable, and that they can strengthen our teaching, learning, research, scholarship, and community connections. We aim to foster an inclusive, thriving and equitable environment for our students, non-academic and academic staff, and community members. We take the stand that equity does not mean sameness in treatment of people, but rather requires measures and accommodations for diverse life experiences and circumstances to ensure that no one of a particular social group is disadvantaged, underrepresented or overlooked in all aspects of our work. We intend to address systemic inequities and compounded disadvantages due to intersectionality of social locations, particularly for those who are members of racialized communities, Indigenous peoples, Black peoples, persons with disabilities, migrant groups (including refugees and immigrants), 2SLGBTQ+ communities, linguistic minorities as well as those who have experienced socioeconomic, caregiving, religious, political, and/or cultural barriers to their education and employment. We also recognize, honour, and integrate into our work diverse perspectives, ways of knowing and doing, experiences, and strengths. An anti-oppressive lens, particularly intersectional, anti-colonial, anti-racist and decolonizing frameworks, will inform our work.

Please refer to our full statement of Our Commitment to Equity, Racial Justice, Diversity, Inclusion and Decolonization, the work of the faculty’s Anti-Black Racism Task Force, and the university’s Indigenous Strategy.

SYLLABUS STATEMENT

This course offers an introduction to knowledge generation relevant to generalist social work practice. Foundational concepts and approaches of various research methodologies will be introduced as ways of knowledge building to inform practice and influence policy, particularly within rural, remote and Indigenous contexts. Course Hours: 6 units; (6-0)

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Learners will be introduced to the core concepts of social work research through a variety of learning activities, including presentations, assigned readings, online discussion, exercises and assignments. They will examine the social, cultural, political and philosophical contexts of knowledge building, with particular attention being paid to concerns of gender, culture, race and power relations. Learners will further examine diverse experiences with knowledge building through various research methodologies.

This course will take place online via Desire2Learn (D2L) and Zoom. To best success in the course, students are expected to participate in the asynchronous learning tasks using the D2L learning environment and synchronous Zoom sessions. When unable to participate live due to unforeseen circumstances, inform the instructor in advance and propose and implement an alternative participation activity (i.e. watch the recordings, submit a brief reflection, and actively contribute to the follow-up online discussions).

There will be 6 synchronous Zoom sessions throughout the term (as indicated in the course schedule below) and each will be recorded.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of this course, learners will be able to:

1. Define and explain the basic concepts and vocabulary involved in research;
2. Demonstrate a beginning understanding of various knowledge-building paradigms, particularly the empirical paradigm, Indigenous ways of knowing, and emancipatory paradigm;
3. Identify and explore solutions to the ethical issues and challenges in social work research;
4. Develop and articulate critical understanding of the contexts and values in shaping social work research.
5. Describe contextually relevant research methodologies.
6. Apply social work research knowledge, and explore the use a variety of knowledge generation methods to advance professional practice, policy development, research, and service provision.

ADDITIONAL CLASSROOM CONDUCT AND RELATED INFORMATION

GUIDELINES FOR ZOOM SESSIONS IN ONLINE CLASSES

Students are expected to participate actively in all Zoom sessions. If you are unable to attend a Zoom session, please contact your instructor to arrange an alternative activity for the missed session (e.g., to review a recorded session) for your best learning experiences. Please be prepared, as best as you are able, to join class in a quiet space that will allow you to be fully present and engaged in Zoom sessions. Unless advised (or agreed) otherwise by their instructors, video cameras should be turned on during class and students are expected to manage their microphones as required. All students are expected to behave in a professional manner during all Zoom sessions.

ZOOM RECORDINGS OF ONLINE CLASSES

The instructor may record online Zoom class sessions for the purposes of supporting student learning in this class – such as making the recording available for review of the session or for students who miss a session. Students will be advised before the instructor initiates a recording of a Zoom session. These recordings will be used to support student learning only and will not be shared or used for any other purpose.

ASSESSMENT COMPONENTS

ASSIGNMENT 1: Competing TCPS CORE Ethics Tutorial (10%)

Due Date: January 24, 11:59PM

Aligned Course Learning Outcomes: 1, 3

Description: The Tri-Council Policy Statement: Ethical Conduct for Research Involving Humans \(TCPS\) is a joint policy of Canada's three federal research agencies, namely the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, the Natural Science and Engineering Research Council of Canada, and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council. The agencies require researchers to address ethical issues that arise in the course of research involving humans.

Learners will complete the online tutorial on research ethics, TCPS 2 CORE, which can be accessed at: <https://tcps2core.ca/welcome>. The tutorial takes approximately three hours to complete, though more time might be required for learners who wish to thoroughly peruse supplementary materials. Upon completion of the tutorial, each learner will be immediately awarded a completion certificate by the Panel on Research Ethics.

By the due date for this assignment, learners will submit their certificates of completion to the instructor via the SOWK 302 Dropbox in D2L and receive full marks. Those who fail to submit their certificates on the due date (by 11:59PM) will receive a zero for this assignment.

ASSIGNMENT 2: Situating Self in Research (20%)

Due Date: February 14 (1st post, 10%) and March 28 (2nd post, 10%), 11:59PM

Aligned Course Learning Outcomes: 1, 2, 3, 4

Description: This individually written assignment will support learners to continually engage in self-reflexivity throughout the course. Learners will reflect on how their worldviews, beliefs, assumptions, social locations and related life experiences have guided their understandings of research and ethics. Learners will write two posts (one post at the midterm, and one post towards the end of the semester) to reflect on specific guiding questions. They will be expected to draw on and to integrate the readings and learning activities throughout this course, as well as the relevant materials from other courses. Learners will be responsible for editing and proofreading their own posts. While learners can maintain a personal tone, they will use proper APA formatting for citations. Each post will be between 750-1000 words (excluding references).

The detailed instruction for each reflective post, along with the grading criteria, will be posted on D2L.

ASSIGNMENT 3: Conducting a Literature Review (30%)

Due Date: March 14, 11:59PM

Aligned Course Learning Outcomes: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6

Description: In preparation for this assignment, please read the following chapter from the textbook.

DeCarlo, M. (2018). Chapter 4: Conducting a literature review. In M. DeCarlo, Scientific Inquiry in Social Work (pp. 84-110). Open Social Work Education

A literature review offers both a descriptive summary and critical assessment of research on a previously studied topic. A literature review informs an audience of the existing knowledge about a topic, field, and/or area of interest by summarizing, comparing, contrasting, and connecting findings and themes documented in the current scholarly and grey literature. It sets the context for a research study, points out the gap(s) in the existing knowledge, and often justifies the formation of a research question. This article looks at various types of reviews: <https://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/doi/full/10.1111/j.1471-1842.2009.00848.x>

For this assignment, learners will complete a preliminary literature review on a topic of their choosing. This assignment will serve as the starting point for the final assignment (creating a research proposal). Learners will include at least seven journal articles on their topic of interest, and a five to six page literature review on the articles selected (page limit excludes references). They will submit their work onto Dropbox via the D2L site.

A submitted literature review should include the following sections:

1. An introduction of the topic, along with a rationale for selecting the topic and the guiding questions for inquiry.
2. Search strategy.
3. A descriptive annotation of the selected publications.
4. A critical assessment of research approaches, findings, and gaps among the selected publications.

To help guide this assignment, learners are welcome to engage in the following steps:

1. Choose a social work topic;
2. Develop a rationale and reflection about how and why you have come to be interested in the topic;
3. Formulate an inquiry question that specifically describes what would like to know about your topic;
4. Use the U of C library to search for and locate journals that include your topic's information;
5. Find articles, read the abstracts and skim the articles to determine if they correspond well to your topic AND inquiry question;
6. Follow steps of a rapid literature review:
<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC2914085/>

You may want to consider the following questions: How did the scholar/s describe the methodology? Was it clear from the author'/s description how the methodology was implemented? What are the strengths of the methodology used in the study? What are the limitations of the methodology used in the study? How did the author/s address the validity of the findings;

7. Select at least 7 relevant journal articles that will inform your literature review;
8. Organize your articles by sorting and classifying their findings in a meaningful way, always considering your original topic and inquiry question. To help organize your thoughts, you may write a brief introduction to your subject of interest and research question; brief overview of your search strategy, including search terms and databases searched; critical annotations of 7 peer-reviewed publications that address your research question;
9. Identify gaps of the literature review.

Detailed instruction for this assignment, along with the grading criteria, will be posted on D2L.

ASSIGNMENT 4: Developing a Research Proposal (40%)

Due Date: April 11th, 11:59PM

Aligned Course Learning Outcomes: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6

Description: Building on their work from Assignments 1, 2 and 3, learners will develop a research proposal (eight to 10 pages, excluding references). They will submit Assignment 4 onto Dropbox via the D2L site. According to Reitsma-Street (2003), a research proposal is a “statement of intent to look into a phenomenon and a plan about how to conduct the search” (p. 1). It is a thoughtful, feasible plan that promotes curiosity and quality scholarship. Learners will address the following elements in their research proposals:

1. Research Question and Rationale: When writing your research question, consider the various contexts and the specific knowledge gap within your topic area. What would be the potential contributions of your research to the existing literature, social work practice and solutions to community issues?
2. Theoretical Orientation: What is your ontological and epistemological foundation? What theories have guided your thinking about your research and informed the development of your research question and research design?
3. Research Design: What is your chosen research methodology (i.e. quantitative, qualitative, mixed)? What are your methods for data collection and data analysis? What are the potential strengths and limitations in your research design?
4. Ethical consideration: What are the potential ethical issues in your proposed research? How will you address the identified ethical issues?
5. Knowledge dissemination and mobilization: How will you share your research findings? How will you ensure that your research will be used to inform changes in practice, programs, services and policies?

The detailed instruction for the research proposal, along with the grading criteria, will be posted on D2L. Assignment 4 must be submitted onto Dropbox via the D2L site.

ADDITIONAL ASSESSMENT AND EVALUATION INFORMATION

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION EXPECTATIONS

Learners are expected to attend classes regularly and actively engaged in all learning activities and discussions.

GUIDELINES FOR SUBMITTING ASSIGNMENTS

Please submit all assignments electronically through their respective Dropbox folders in D2L. Assignments may be submitted in Word or PDF format. An assignment should have a file name as follows: “Full name and assignment number” (e.g., Jane Smith Assignment 2). Assignments will be submitted by 11:59 pm on their due dates.

LATE ASSIGNMENTS

- Assignments and papers are to be submitted on time. Extensions will be offered only if legitimate reasons are provided. Learners are responsible for notifying the instructor about legitimate reasons and to discuss extensions. Extensions to assignments deadlines will be the discretion of the instructor.
- Late assignments will be accepted only in exceptional circumstances and at the discretion of the instructor.
- Late assignments will be downgraded by one full mark (-1) of the assignment grade per day including weekends, holidays, and study weekdays.
- There is a seven-day maximum limit by which to accept late assignments where students have not asked for extension. No assignments will be accepted beyond this seven-day limit.

If you need writing support, please connect with the Student Success Centre, at: <https://www.ucalgary.ca/student-services/student-success/writing-support>

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

It is expected that all work submitted in assignments is the student's own work, written expressly by the student for this particular course. Students are reminded that academic misconduct, including plagiarism, has serious consequences, as set out in the University Calendar: <http://www.ucalgary.ca/pubs/calendar/current/k.html>

Students and staff are also expected to demonstrate professional behaviour in class that promotes and maintains a positive and productive learning environment. Consistent with the aims of the Social Work Program and the University of Calgary, all students and staff are expected to respect, appreciate, and encourage expression of diverse world views and perspectives; to offer their fellow community members unconditional respect and constructive feedback; and to contribute to building learning communities that promote individual and collective professional and personal growth. While critical thought and debate is valued in response to concepts and opinions shared in class, feedback must always be focused on the ideas or opinions shared and not on the person who has stated them.

Students and staff are expected to model behaviour in class that is consistent with our professional values and ethics, as outlined in the Canadian Association for Social Workers, Code of Ethics (2005) and the Alberta College of Social Work Standards of Practice (2019).
